CHILDHHELP NATIONAL CHILD ABUSE HOTLINE

The Childhelp National Child Abuse Hotline, 1-800-4-A-CHILD (1-800-422-4453), is dedicated to preventing child maltreatment and supporting successful interventions for survivors of child abuse and neglect.

Serving the United States, its territories, and Canada, the hotline is staffed 24 hours a day, 7 days a week with professional crisis counselors who can provide assistance in over 170 languages. The hotline offers crisis intervention, information, and referrals to thousands of emergency, social service, and support resources. The hotline is equipped to exchange text messages, and online chat is available at childhelphelp.org.

All calls, texts and chats are confidential.

Since 1982, the hotline has received more than 2 million contacts. These come from children at risk for abuse, distressed parents seeking crisis intervention, adult survivors of child abuse in need of support and concerned individuals who suspect child abuse. The hotline is a valuable source of information for mandated reporters like school personnel, health professionals, police and fire investigators.

Our counselors will be there to answer the call for decades to come.

CHILDHHELP HOTLINE NATIONAL SPOKESPERSON JOHN STAMOS

Hollywood star John Stamos' involvement with Childhelp began 30 years ago when his mother saw her son's career begin to flourish and wanted to ensure he always stayed grounded through philanthropy. Over the years, he's hosted Childhelp holiday parties, taken groups of children to Disneyland and attended Childhelp events to lend his celebrity to fundraising efforts. Last year, he took his dedication to Childhelp a step further by becoming the official National Spokesperson for the Childhelp National Child Abuse Hotline.

One of the benefits of being on familiar, family programming for so long is that kids have grown up with me; they trust some of the characters I've played. If I can use that platform to encourage them to trust their own voices, to make a call when they are being hurt, that is my most important role.

CHILD HELPLINE INTERNATIONAL

Childhelp National Child Abuse Hotline is a full member in good standing of Child Helpline International, a global network of 178 members in 146 countries that combined receive over 14 million contacts a year. The organization gathers data from member organizations and provides support in the form of training and advocacy to share best practices, foster collaboration and advocate for child helplines and a stronger child protection system.

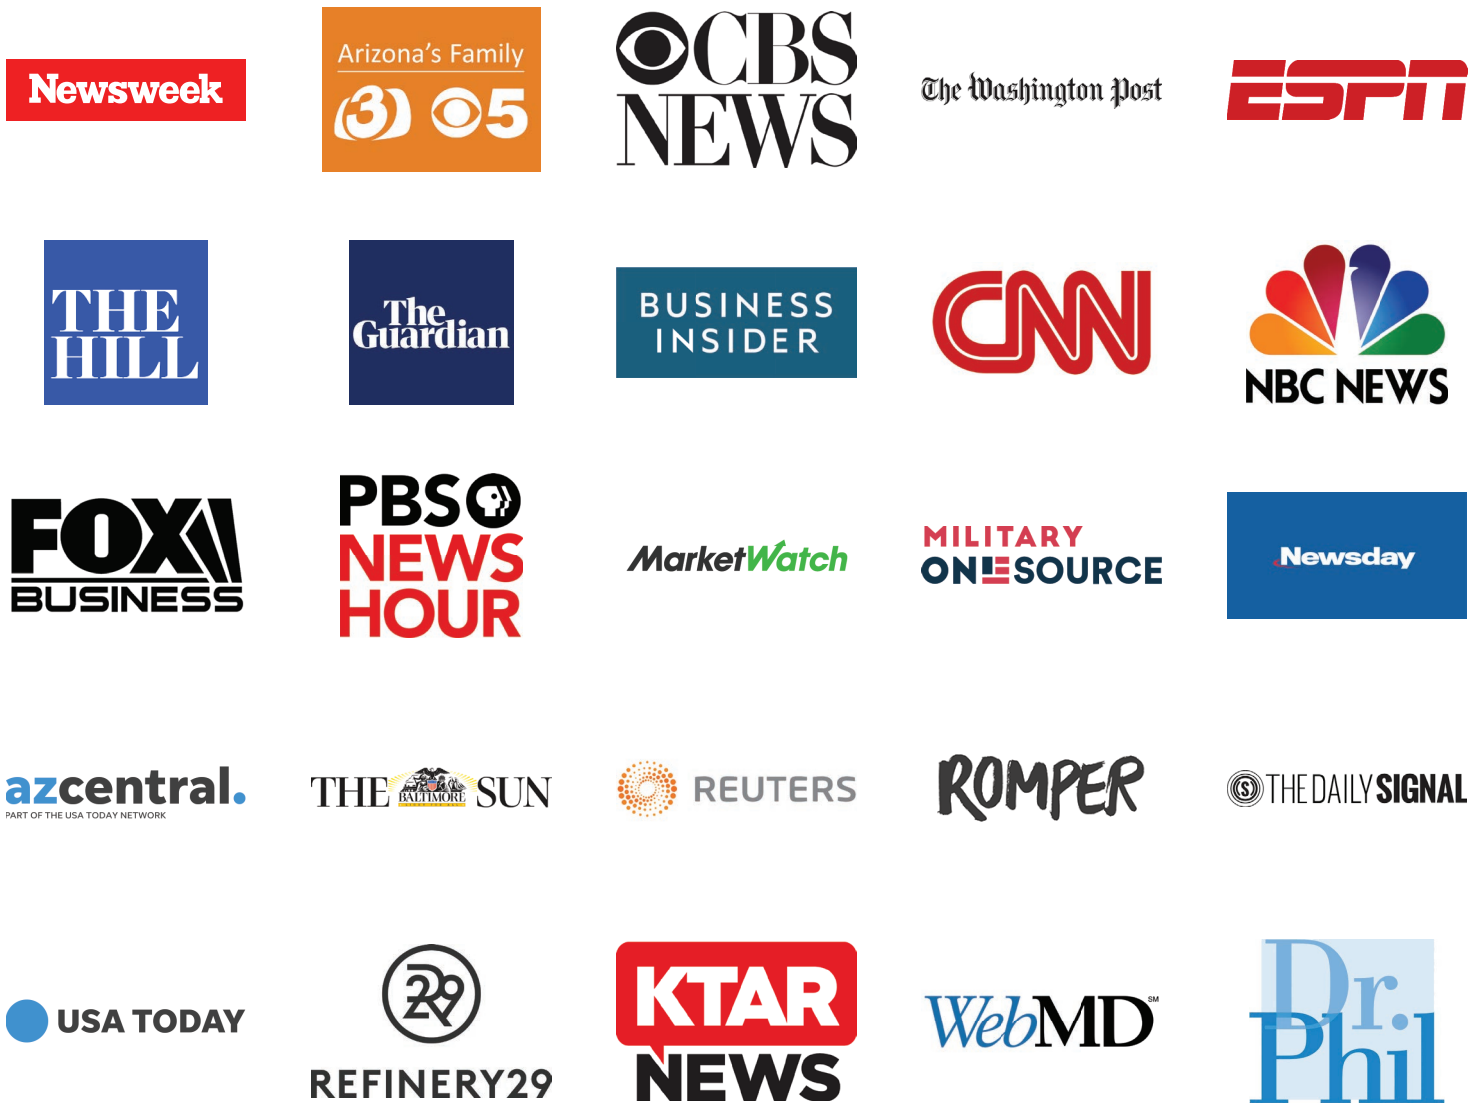

NATIONAL HOTLINE CONSORTIUM

Childhelp National Child Abuse Hotline is an active member of the National Hotline Consortium. The goals of the consortium are to develop and model best practices for victim services and crisis response phone, chat, text, and e-mail hotlines and to facilitate communication and coordination among these hotlines to provide high-quality response to users of the services.
